Summary of the News.

[From the Chronicle, April 15.]

The incidents of the past fortuight are neither numerous newstartling. The interior newspapers continue to give encouraging accounts of mining operations, and we must believe that the working man has never been more liberally rewarded for his toil. Business continues to improve, and all agree that the State was never more prospecous. Every steamer comes loaded with immigrants; and although many citizens are leaving for the fast, yet not one in twenty but contemplates returning. The cultivation of the soil keeps pace with the increase of population, and sufficient breadstraffs will be raised this season to supply the entire State. Forty thousand cores of wheat are growing in San Joaquin county.

The legislature has transacted no very important business within the past two weeks. The Nebraska resolutions and the State printing have been the chief topics of clothe. A bill has passed in the Assembly providing for the election of State printer by the people.

Markets.

Since the sailing of the last steamer a moderate trade has been generally done, though the mass of sales were made immediately succeeding the departure of the mail. The demand for consumption having been met, sales except for speculation fell off. A disposition to speculate was caused by the raily prices took under the demand by the jobbers, and as the time advanced for the departure of this steamer the buyers materially decreased, leaving trade in as inactive condition. The arrivals during the past fortnight have added inconsiderably to the stocks on hand, which are still in the same abundance as noted in former reports. We would advise parties on the Atlantic border shipping to this market, to examine the condition of trade with us in a candid manner, and not rush heatily into trade which has proved so disastrons for menths past. We are evidently having a reaction in trade, but the immense stocks of goods still in our warehouses must be withdrawn before prices can be permanently settled at paying rates to the slipper. The evil of indiscriminating shipments, made by regular and outside [shippers and importers will correct itself after a time, and when this shall have taken place, we may look for that healthy condition of the California trade so much desired by our merchants. Let extreme caution be used by those trading with us and all will be benefitted, where now less is and has been estained.

SHIP TRADE WIND, at Mobile from NYork went ashore Dt uith, on Sand Island, while going up in tow of a steemer, but got off next day without serious damage.

BARK ST LAWRENCE Kimball, which put into Charleston last December in distress on the voyage from Mosquito Keys, Gulf of Mexico, for Baltimore, with guane, has been repaire, and cid 2d inst for Liverpool, Mokey, master.

THE BARK seen ashore on Carysfort Reef on the 25th uitime is supposed to be the bark Linden, Clark, which cid at this port 10th uit for Mobile, with an assorted cargo valued at $40,000, which is fully covered by insurance in this city. The L was built in Connecticut in 1839, 300 tons register, owned by Sturges, Clearman & Co, valued at about $20,000, and is partially insured in Wall street.

BR PRIG SARAH MARGARK, at Boston from Newcastle.

$20,000, and is partially insured in Wall street.

He mic Sarah Mangarer, at Boston from Newcastle, in a severe northwest gale, March 12, in lat 40, ton 59 16, had decks swept of everything plankshoar started, and sprung a leak; three over part oarge, &c.

Schin Ci.co, Southard, was totally lost in the late gale on cape lienry Beach. Capt S had fallen in with the sohr Lodi, Morgan (before reported), of and from Salem for Jacksonville, in a sinking consitien; took off the crew and laid by the L until his own vessel was piaced at the mercy of the gale, and finally beached and wrecked. Capt S, by the loss of his vessel, is reduced almost to destitution. He had arrived at Norfelk where a subscription was about being made for his benefit.

Entractsfrom letters to Ellwood Walter, Ean, Secretary.

Extracts from letters to Ellwood Walter, Esq., Secretary of Board of Underwriters:

Me arrived at the wreck of the ship is W Garmany, yesterday norming. The condition of the ship is W Garmany, yesterday morning. The condition of the ship is uniporable. She lays in two feet of water, high up; has eight feet water in her hold, which shows that the ship is bedded in the sand between three and four feet—the maintainst has settled eight inches down, and a part of the main keel is broken of and ashore; stern post started, rudder gone, with the tide rising and falling in her. No goods have been saved yet, but all preparations are made for delivering cargo to day. The ship lays about 125 yards from the beach, and it will be difficult to land or save the cargo speedily. A survey has beee called on the ship, which has condemned her, and from appearances it is feared she will be lost. At present the prospects are that we can save the dry goods and top loading dry.

In dry.

[A letter dated at Norfolk, 6th inst to E Walter, gives some later intelligence from the Garmany, which states that the greater part of the keel from the mainmant aft had floated ashore. Salvors were engaged in saving the eargo, for which they are to receive 20 percent. The weather continues favorable; some 30 packages of crates and dry goods had been landed, and it was thought that the whole cargo might be saved, and possibly then with good weather, the ship may be floated off. []

BEAUFORT, N. C., May 4.

ship may be floated off.]

BEAUFORY, N. C., May 4.

We have arrived up from the schooner Adeline D. with part of the cargo, and all will be up to merrow, and will send it to Wimington. The schooner lies side on the beach prety well up. Atfull tide she can be hauled off. She has not yet sustained much damage.

The schr G W Pickering, (of Savannah, Benson, master, with coal, from Baltimore far Savannah, went ashore this morning about 20 miles north of Cape Look Out. The materials will probably be saved. Vesset, we think, prove a total loss.
